Dear Dr. Henney,

I am distressed that the Food and Drug Administration is ignoring medical and scientific warnings about genetically modified food. I believe that governments should never have approved genetically altered food without insisting on rigorous testing. Please describe the warnings mentioned.

I strongly urge the FDA to ^{review} ~~reverse~~ its policy and ~~demand~~ ^{require} a long-term study for possible adverse environmental and health effects before these foods are allowed on the market. I also insist that the FDA require labeling of all genetically engineered foods.

Sincerely,

R K Sherwood,
